and Wooden toys

AS WE all want to limit our impact on the planet, so the range of FSC sourced wooden toys now on the shelves is the EcoPals collection at Toys R Us. This new line of products includes wooden pieces that have been made using a wood-burning technique that eliminates the need for paints or dyes – such as the Xylophone £11.70 (above, left) and the Stack Up Rings £12.70 (above, right) – as well as organic cotton soft toys. And we absolutely adore the Milwaukee Express (left) by Our Children's Gorilla. This timeless train set has been inspired by steam liners from the Forties and is handmade from walnut, birch and pine wood. It costs £149 from www.just-gorgeous.com

ADORNABLE REFLECTORS add a personal touch to your child's belongings. These little characters in various shapes and hues and coat or rucksack, just £3.50 each from Cherries.

FLOWER POWER
Mark your child's growth on the Square Flower measuring chart by Lisa Stickley. Handprinted on cotton canvas, it comes with stickers and costs £20.

FINE & DANDY
Dandy Star, the über-cool T-shirt company has brought out a groovy range of stationery, including these Love greeting cards (below). Available in grey and cream, they cost £13.80 for a pack of six. Perfect for Valentine's Day.

Bags a'blazing

A VINTAGE VALISE that's been restored with pistol detail may not be entirely PC, but it is probably the best – or at least the most stylish – way to give in to your child's request for a toy gun! It comes from the team at kidslovedesign who always create fun, innovative pieces. And it's a steal at €80.

Cool hunter
Black to basics

IF YOU ARE looking for a cheap and cheerful highchair, the Spoling chair from Ikea is perfect. The funky, monochrome print cover is removable and washable, and the design folds easily so you can take it with you in the car. And, as it only costs £27.30, you can also buy the matching monochrome Mata feeding set (shown below) for £1.65, and still have change from £30. Brilliant.
